But says President should not simply dismiss such demand

By Christine V. Sanchez

MANILA — Catholic bishops, according to some church officials, are looking for a way to support President Benigno Aquino III's call for a "people's revolution" to end corruption and improve the lives of Filipinos.

The bishops are reportedly considering a joint statement or a public prayer service to show their support for the president's vision. However, they are also aware of the challenges they face in a country where corruption is rampant and the economy is struggling.

Bishops' decision enhances chances of impeachment option

By Antonio Alvarez

MANILA, Philippines — The decision by the Catholic bishops to support President Benigno Aquino III's call for a "people's revolution" has enhanced the chances of an impeachment option against the president.

The bishops' support is seen as a significant endorsement of the president's vision, but it also raises concerns about the potential for political instability. Some critics argue that the bishops' decision is a move to undermine the president's authority.

FVR resents being called kingmaker

By Mike Flores

MANILA, Philippines — Former Vice President Fernando Y. Yano resents being called a "kingmaker" for his role in the political process.

Yano, who served as vice president under President Gloria Arroyo, has been criticized for his perceived influence in the selection of political leaders. He has expressed frustration with the media and the public's perception of his role.

GMA thanks bishops for guidance, wisdom

By Christine V. Sanchez

MANILA — The Philippine Daily Inquirer has thanked the Catholic bishops for their guidance and wisdom in the current political climate.

The newspaper's managing editor, Raul Sison, praised the bishops for their commitment to the common good and their role in providing moral guidance to the Filipino people.

Employees of agri agency push probe of graft raps vs exec

CYRILDAO CITY—Employees of the Agricultural Training Institute (ATI), the Department of Agriculture's training arm in South Cotabato, have asked the Presidential Anti-Graft Commission (PAGC) to look into the criminal and administrative complaints they filed against chief executive who has assumed two years ago.

Alvin Rene Melara, ATI strategy specialist and the group's spokesperson, said the PAGC on Sunday that they filed eight charges against ATI chief Edgardo Nazario and his assumed virgin Rhoda but nothing had happened in the case.

Nazario, however, said the Cebu-based Philippine Mining and Development Corp. (PMDC) has already cleared him of criminal and administrative charges.

Showing a newspaper signed by graft investigation officer Ilancho Makina Salazar, Melara said he had no pending case before the anti-graft body.

The case stemmed from the alleged irregular transfer of more than P2.2 million of government funds to Nazario's personal account payroll paying, according to prosecutors, various of transportation materials, fuel of company's vehicles and other provisions, irregular transfer of funds of projects for sustainable technology to accelerate rice self-sufficiency, non-attendance of scheduled programs amounting to P44,454, and unauthorized use of the company's vehicle.

Melara said the other residents suspect, Makina de Cruz allegedly approved Nazario's move to transfer the funds to his account.

She said they also filed a complaint before the Office of Probation Administration which in August 2003 required Nazario and Rhoda to answer the charges.

In September 2003 Melara's group was ordered by the Commission to submit their evidence but months later it issued a ruling that ordering to Paga the PMDC's 100-million loan to fund better service the students of an under development and infrastructure.

Melara said the order proves their hypothesis.

On June 27 the ATI employees with a manifesto to President Macapagal Arroyo asking for the resignation of Nazario and Makina.

"This is not worth already. They are harassing the Nazario and the Makina."

He said three of the employees were threatened in his past and that of his account.

Davao dads to block permit for Swiss firm

DAVAO CITY—Local councilors plan to block the renewal of a lucrative mining permit to the Swiss giant firm Holcim, which has acquired a 300-hectare exploration and extraction claim in the Bantayan area.

The case will show how the barriers to stop the entry of foreign mining firms in the country are fought at the local and the national level according to Councilor Peter Lavilla, referring to a Supreme Court decision upholding the entire country to foreign mining firms.

Lavilla said the proposed mining site, which covers three barangays, has been classified as "agricultural." Allowing mining there violates the city's zoning law, he said.

"Limestone quarry is open-pit mining which destroys the topsoil and all plants and vegetation therein, leaving the quarried area desolate and unusable," he said.

After the Departments of Environment and Natural Resources approved its mining exploration and extraction permit, Swiss Cement is now working a memorandum of agreement with the local government.

The MRA would require the company to assume responsibility for a possible damage arising from limestone extraction and to ensure the prompt payment of taxes to the national government.

Another councilor Diosdado Mahipay has proposed a P50-million environmental guarantee bond to compensate the three villages that would be affected.

Holcim has taken over the former Bantayan Cement factory in Bantayan (Bantayan). Gerardo Lacorte, PAGC Mindanao Bureau

POC tosses back blame to cage body

By Phang Kuan

ALL THE BLAME FOR THE PHILIPPINE BASKETBALL TEAM'S FAILURE TO WIN THE GOLD MEDAL AT THE 1991 ASIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS IN MANILA should be placed on the cage body, says the Philippine Olympic Committee (POC) president, Dr. J. V. Pineda.

POC president Dr. J. V. Pineda.

Dr. Pineda said the POC should not be blamed for the team's failure. He said the team's failure was due to the cage body's failure to prepare the team properly for the competition.

'Hot money' inflow shrinks on GMA woes

By Scott C. Brinkley

NEW YORK (The Wall Street Journal)—The surge in foreign investment in U.S. stocks that began in late 2007 has slowed sharply in recent months, according to a new report from the U.S. Treasury Department. The report, which is the most comprehensive look at the flow of foreign capital into the U.S. market, shows that the inflow of foreign funds into U.S. stocks fell by more than 50% in the third quarter of 2008 compared with the same quarter in 2007. The report also shows that the inflow of foreign funds into U.S. bonds fell by more than 50% in the third quarter of 2008 compared with the same quarter in 2007. The report is the most comprehensive look at the flow of foreign capital into the U.S. market, and it shows that the inflow of foreign funds into U.S. stocks and bonds has slowed sharply in recent months.

Servers

In the business world, time is of the essence. This is why many business enterprises always depend on servers that are not only reliable, but also more effective and more efficient. It's not just the speed of the server that counts, but also the reliability of the server.

More than 100,000 servers are sold every year. This is why many business enterprises always depend on servers that are not only reliable, but also more effective and more efficient. It's not just the speed of the server that counts, but also the reliability of the server.

UK briefings at British Council

British Council officials held a series of briefings for UK press and TV on the 30th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries. The briefings were held at the British Council in London on July 10 and 11. The briefings were attended by a number of British Council officials and a number of UK press and TV representatives. The briefings provided an opportunity for British Council officials to discuss the current state of relations between the two countries and to answer questions from the press and TV. The briefings also provided an opportunity for British Council officials to discuss the current state of relations between the two countries and to answer questions from the press and TV.

the 1990s. The 1990s saw a significant increase in the number of people who were employed in the service sector, which was a result of the fact that the service sector was the only sector that was growing at a rapid rate. This was due to the fact that the service sector was the only sector that was not affected by the recession of the 1980s. The service sector was the only sector that was able to maintain its growth rate, and this was due to the fact that the service sector was the only sector that was able to maintain its growth rate.
